

CAREGIVER CONNECTIONS

AN EDUCATIONAL WEBINAR SERIES

Things to Consider When Your Loved One with Dementia is Hospitalized

Thursday, June 30th from 1:00 - 2:00 PM EST

This presentation will focus on ways to stay safe during a hospitalization, how to maintain cognitive function and how to optimize the hospital experience for someone living with dementia. Dr. McDonald will also talk about delirium, what it is, how to identify it and how to reduce your risk.

Dr. Shelley McDonald, DO, PhD

Dr. Shelley McDonald is a geriatric provider at the Duke Geriatric Evaluation and Treatment Clinic. She is also an Associate Professor of Medicine at Duke Health and a Senior Fellow of the Center for the Study of Aging and Human Development.

Dr. McDonald sees patients in Duke's POSH (Perioperative Optimization of Senior Health) Clinic. The goal of the POSH Clinic is to set the stage for a safe surgical experience and a smooth recovery for older adults at risk for certain complications during and after surgery, including cognitive decline.
